Demolish Amp: Build 2018

What's new in Demolish Amp; Build 2018:

Demolish & Build 2019 will take place on Sunday 6th August 2019 at NISPR Temple. Our annual demolition derby and tunnelling competition that takes place right here in the heart of the town, is a three hour, family-friendly event, that brings together all ages for mass blasting, demolition and collision. The theme for 2019 is "Re-Brick Central" and will encourage local businesses to give their old Victorian or traditional brick buildings a second life. It's lucky for us that we have been running this event for many years. It's brilliant to see the community come together to rebuild the town. Last year we had a record number of entries, almost 200 teams competed from all over the UK in what was an amazing show of demolition expertise. There will be a wide range of activities for all the family including a 'pit' (containing a small 'block target') and a big arena with a panoramic view of the site. Our aim is to drive home the importance of landscape restoration. We encourage NISPR residents and their families to come on over on the day, help the community to re-tune our town and have a blast! MOTOR RACING The last time we saw racing on the Grand Prix Track in Thurcroft it was back in 1981 and much has changed since then. Motor racing has the reputation of being a ruthless sport and rightly so as it often does prove deadly. In January this year world famous racing driver Marco Liuzzi was killed in a crash at Nantwich. He was just 30 years old. His family are now suing the series after he was injured in a crash just six minutes after the start. A six mile figure of eight racing circuit has been built on the salt pit. Racing gives a bit of excitement but it is the sporting aspect that is used to distract punters from the dangers of the sport. But the danger is always present, even when the races are held on courses that have been removed from the pit. Racing accidents have been caused by cars hitting trains rolling in and out of the pit, crashing head on into the pit wall and, as happened last year, cars striking overhead power lines. At last year's race controls were at the pit entrance from the Published Road. All races come in the same direction. Drivers have

Human behavior is influenced by an individual's desire to associate with other persons having similar characteristics, such as attitudes, interests, etc. Research indicates that people with a good deal of diversity associated with them are more effective in solving a variety of social problems. Put another way, as a society, we tend to be more successful when we have members of many diverse groups who work with us. Thus, the demand for social contacts and the supply of such are important variables in determining what people do, feel and think. Another important task of the human respondent is the classification of candidates into groups or sub-groups on the basis of their attitudes and opinions. In many areas, in particular public opinion polls, a problem exists in class
